ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS SPLIT

Conflict of Court Orders Results in Attack on Building Held by Militia.

Chicago, April 15 .- Conflict of court orders and the battering of sledges and axes on harred doors preceded the Cook County Democratic Convention to-day, which splk and chose two sets of delegates to the state convention in Peoria, April 19.

For more than three hours, twenty-five militiamen, unarmed and under the command of a captain of the 7th Regiment, Illinois National Guard, held possession of the 7th Regiment Armory, in 34th street, while two rival forces, the Hearst-Harrison faction and the followers of Roger C. Sullidisputed the right of each other to enter the armory. The Sullivan men insisted that the county judge had no right to order an election commissioner to open the conven-The Hearst-Harrison men declared that his order alone would insure fairness. hundred deputy sheriffs, acting under the orders of County Judge John E. Owens, held control of the street outside the armory. Coroner Hoffman, with twentyfive deputies, was busy through the morning serving police officials and the Sheriff's men with an injunction issued in the County Superior Court restraining them from interfering. The injunction was waved aside, and the Coroner himself was summoned before County Judge Owens to answer a charge of contempt of court for conflicting with the orders of Judge Owens. The Sheriff, the police and Election Commissioner Czarnicki are also under contempt charges. Repeated demands were made by Election Commissioner Czarnecki, Republican, delegated by Judge Owens to open the conven tion, that the door be unbarred. The militia defiantly refused, and Judge Owens in person went to the armory and demanded admittance. He, too, was refused. Then the police were ordered by Judge Owens to break in the doors.

No shots came from the guardsmen. The cuter door fell, and then an inner door, barricaded with trunks and furniture, gave way. County Judge Owens and Commissioner Czarnecki entered. Captain Octigan, who commanded the guardsmen, was arrested, but was released on habeas corpus proceedings.

Platform of Cook County Convention Upholds His Administration.

Chicago, April 15 .- The Cook County Republican Convention to-day, aside from a publican Convention to-day, aside from a difference of opinion among the committeemen in two wards over the selection of delegates, was harmonious. A platform inforsing President Taft's administration and the state administration of Governor Deneen was unanimously adopted.

A promise that the delegates to the state convention should abide by the popular choice for President in the recent primary, with a recommendation that the various Congress conventions also support Roosevelt, was a plank in the platform.

MEXICAN SITUATION GRAVE. After the most persistent effort on the part of the United States to maintain friendship with Mexico, and even to go the full limit, if not to assist that republic to restore order, at least to remove all obstacles which might be placed in its way by citizens of this country, the patience of the administration is almost exhausted. But the Mexican Republic continues on its course with apparently the nonchalance of a drunken dancer doing a clog in hobnail shoes over a dynamite mine. It is still asserted that there will be no "Intervention" and, as has been pointed out in these columns, that statement is sincere and is warranted by the purpose of the administration. But if the Mexican authorities imagine for a moment that because the United States does not purpose to intervene to help or to compel them to compose their differences this country also purposes to overlook outrages perpetrated on American citizens it is reckoning without its host. As much, but no more, consideration will be shown to Mexico if the lives of Americans are taken than would be shown to any other country, and repetitions of the Fountain incident will inevitably lead to reprisals. Everything possible has been said informally and in the most kindly way to the Mexican Ambassador by President Taft, in the same way by Ambassador Wilson to President Madero, formally and officially by the Secretary of State to the Mexican government, and finally, in the most forceful and explicit terms employed in diplomatic correspondence, in the communication of Acting Secretary Wilson to Ambassador Wilson, to Consul Letcher and other consular officers, with instructions that the warning be shown to President Madero, to mediation, clothed with authority to interrages on American lives and property, and awaken to a realization of the fact that dustry.

The telegram follows:

the President that his opponent practically confesses his own inability to defeat him squarely on the record of this administration by resorting to such misrepresentations as declarations that the President is and has been in sympathy with Senator Lorimer, that he is a "stand-patter" of the Penrose type, that he advocated a railway rate bill which would have undone all the good accomplished by the original railway rate bill, etc., all of which Mr. Roosevelt, it is asserted, knows full well to be wholly without foundation in fact. Some there are who believe the President should address an open letter to Mr. Roosevelt and rebuke him for his misrepresentation. What will be the course of the President cannot be foretold. He has felt that it was unbecoming the dignity of a President to engage in that sort of verbal conflict, and, inasmuch as, following the nomination, the election will be at stake, it behooved him to refrain in so far as possible from exaggerating the split in the party ranks. To this the President's advisers reply that Mr. Roosevelt is a consummate politician, and that when he goes into a fight he goes in to win, never hesitating to employ any means which may serve his end, whether it involves hitting below the belt, a kick on the shins or a blow with the big stick delivered from behind.

It is urged that if the President will take a belligerent attitude it will greatly encourage his followers and give renewed impetus to his campaign, which is already near a successful conclusion, although it still requires 141 delegates to effect the elimination of Colonel Roosevelt.

Delegates Talking About the Ten Vice-Presidents General To Be Elected.

[From The Tribune Bureau.] Washington, April 15.—"We have reached time in the history of politics in this ountry when we have to take down our copies of the Constitution and our copies of 'The Federalist' and of the history of the growth of our institutions and renew our vows to the principles that were there embodied in our governmental structure, to Insist that they shall not be departed from. but that they shall be maintained in their vitalizing force to continue our pursuit of happiness and the guarantees of our instltutions for the maintenance of liberty regulated by law."

Thus, in part, spoke President Taft th's afternoon in welcoming the Daughters of the American Revolution to Washington to hold their twenty-first Continental Congress in Continental Memorial Hall. The President was received most enthusiastically on his arrival at the hall, and his address of welcome brought forth a storm of applause from the large gathering of the "daughters." The President said in part:

MRS. GRACIE STILL HIDING MISS MORGAN AT CIRCUS

Financier's Daughter Escorts Three Little Nephews.

Cleopatra and Miss Anne Morgan entere the arena of the circus at Madison Square Garden at the same moment yesterday afternoon and the former attracted considerably more applause. Few persons present recognized the financier's daughter in the unassuming young woman in a dark blue serge suit and black hat who found her way unescorted across the sawdust to her box.

Cleopatra, on the other hand, had a bodyremained in the shadows of the Gracie guard of thirty-six horses, countles home nearly all day and took note of every guards, in more or less costume, and was visitor, plying some with inquiries. There herself attired in violent "Nile green" was a strong suspicion that Mrs. Gracie satin. When on her triumphal progress was at her own residence, although Miss she passed the Morgan box, however, she Edith Gracie, the daughter, responded to received only an icy stare. The smiles all calls and gave out all the information from that quarter were bestowed on clowns and athletes.

The party consisted of Miss Morgan, Miss Elsie de Wolfe, Miss Elizabeth Mar-Gage, who testified on the witness stand bury and three small boys, said to be the last week that it was Mrs. Gracie who first sons of Mrs. Herbert L. # MARRIAGE LEADS TO SUICIDE

"Purity" Candidate Wedded Octoroon, Opponents Show.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Albany, Ga., April 15.—The charge, susained, it is said, by reference to court ecords, that five years ago while in New York he married an octoroon girl, caused Jesse W. Waiters, solicitor of the City Court of Albany and candidate for a second term, to shoot himself through the head. Walters had fought the, red light district, the gamblers and blind tigers and sought re-election on a "purity" platform. He was opposed, and the day before he killed himself every voter in Albany received an anonymous circular attacking Walters's record and ending with the charge that he had married an octoroon.

J. B. Calloway and J. D. Weston, Albany friends of Walters, were named as wit nesses to the wedding and the New York records were cited to prove the issuance of a license and the marriage. After the wedding Walters, it is alleged, took the girl to California and lived there with her over a year. Then, it is said, he left her and returned to Albany. The girl brought suit against Walters in the Albany Superior Court, and the court's records were cited as proof. Then, it is alleged, Waiter's family paid the girl a large amount to hush up the matter and prevent a scandal.

When Walters read the circular he is said to have exclaimed, "I can't stand it?" and the next day killed himself.

In a statement Colonel Walters, father of the dead man, pledges himself to carr on his son's work and clean up Albany, but makes no reference to the charge that caused his son to kill himself.

Two sisters, seventeen and fourteen years old, are giving their wages each week to their widowed mother for the support of the home which she makes for them and their three younger brothers and sisters. Ill health prevents the mother from attempting to increase this weekly income of $9, but she is able to give her children good care. Until the daughters can advance to better paying places, the rent must be paid and the milk, on which the mother so much depends, provided. The Charity Organization Society asks for $66 to meet these expenses for six months. Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, No. 10 East 22d street, and will be acknowledged.
